

Product Designer (m/f) wanted with passion to join a visionary start-up and create the next impact unicorn

Location: Germany (Munich)

We envision a world in which people never stop doing the “thing” which defines them and see life as an ongoing discovery of fulfilling activities– mastering all life transitions. We are zentor, a team of fun and seasoned professionals that came together to create something meaningful.

zentor is your personal mentor for a fulfilling life – simplifying life’s transitions. Our digital platform allows users to dream big again, explore, join and create activities, to find like-minded individuals, and pursue a purposeful life.

We build this not just for the lives of our parents, friends and future selves, but believe we can help prevent a global epidemic in society – loneliness and depression in later life. To create this impact unicorn, we are looking for a kick-ass product designer who shares our mission and helps us take our MVP to an exciting and intuitive solution.

Are you a top-notch and creative Designer that wants to do good?

Then joins us and become our first major hire to help us build the following:

- A perfect UX targeting customers 50+
- Multi-point front-ends (likely including voice) with intuitive and awesome looking UIs
- Intuitive user journeys along the full customer lifecycle - understanding key moments of truth
- A way for our potential B2B customers to integrate with our platform

Skills required

- Relevant experience as a B2C UX/UI designer, and in defining user journeys and great customer moments of truths
- A passion for great UX, ideally with a focus on the target audience 50+
- An eye for detail and the ability to quickly turn early concepts into magic
- Expert level in all relevant tools, incl. Sketch, Marvel, Adobe CC, etc.

What we offer

- A great team with decades of experience & a great start-up network in UK & DE
- A chance to become one the first hires of our company, shape the next big thing, and create an impact unicorn
- The passion for a meaningful cause and a long-term perspective
- The spirit to disrupt an industry globally (starting with Germany & UK)

Please contact us: valentin@zentor.me